Rooted in Resources

for Landowners and Managers

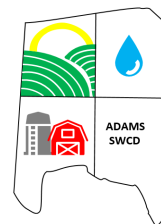

This is a FREE event, no registration required

Join us during Ohio Soil Health Week to learn how to care for your forests, wildlife, ponds, and soil. Rooted in Resources aims to be your one-stop shop to browse displays from various organizations and learn about the various resources that are available to landowners and managers.

Engage in direct conversations with top experts, get answers to your questions, and build connections with professionals. There will be educational displays for all ages and a food truck will also be on site.
